Department Overview

Adapted Physical Education (APE) is a special education service that provides school-aged children with special needs access to the general physical education curriculum. On an itinerant basis, the APE staff services all schools in the district, including schools in outlying rural areas. They provide services on a weekly schedule to students identified as needing APE intervention. Students' needs for APE involvement are determined through the referral process, assessment, and IEP team recommendations. A student must be special education eligible and accessing PE. In addition, the Adapted Physical Education Department hosts two school-based programs: Special Olympics, for students with cognitive impairments, and Paralympics, for students with physical disabilities and visual impairments.

Performance Measures

Customer Service: Adapted PE teachers participate in as many IEP meetings as schedule permits. Parents and siblings are included in after school activities. Parent disability training is featured during October Paralympics Disability Awareness month celebration. Parents and teachers are surveyed post event.

Communication: Handouts during IEP meetings; Paralympic monthly emails. Communication with SSD staff is done through event announcements on Google and event mailing list.

Consistency: Adapted PE teachers submit a monthly schedule to be kept on file at the APE office and their home schools. Monthly meetings are held in the four areas to insure delivery of service consistency and guarantee school coverage.
